Collectors Plan Organization of Main Line Stamp Club

More than a score of collectors enthusiastically started organization of a Main Line Stamp Club for adults Tuesday night at the Lower Merion Junior High School.

Appointed as an organization committee by Nelson Bushnell, Narberth, chairman of the meeting, are C. Brinkley Turner, Wynnewood; Dr. Frank P. K. Barker, Gladwyne, vice-president of the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners; George Adam, Ardmore.

Another meeting to form the club will be held in about two weeks. L. W. Perkins, Junior High instructor, is sponsor of the club.

"Let Me See That Plant"

A gypsy woman asked Patrick McCourt, florist at Montgomery and Woodbine avenues, Narberth, Tuesday night. She had looked at several other plants without buying.

McCourt bent over to get the plant, and the gypsy said, "Never mind. I don't want anything now."

Later McCourt discovered five $1 bills he was carrying in his hip pocket were missing. So is the gypsy.

German

Exchange student to appear before young Republicans

Next Thursday Dietrich Ahrens, of Germany, will speak before the Narberth Young Republicans, in the Legion Room at 8 P. M. Mr. Ahrens will discuss contemporary conditions in Germany, with emphasis on the present political and social regime, and including a discussion of sterilization as it is used as a social measure in Germany. At the close of his speech Mr. Ahrens will welcome any questions about Germany or Europe, and there will be an open discussion.

Dietrich Ahrens is a student at the University of Munich, spending a year in America, studying at Haverford College, where he is collecting material for his Doctor's thesis.

Following Mr. Ahrens' address Gene Claghorn, of Narberth, will briefly discuss the recent changes in the Narberth Borough Government. There will be dancing and refreshments after the meeting and everyone is welcome, both old and young Republicans.

Borough Council will meet next Monday. The public is welcome, as usual . . . Elm Hall, 8:15 P. M.

new residents of Penn Valley were guests at the second reception given by the Penn Valley Civic Association, last Friday at the Merion War Tribute House. Seventy played bridge; others danced. Wayne's orchestra played, and refreshments were served.

Heading the reception line were President and Mrs. Walter D. Fuller and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lafore. The committee in charge of the successful affair was headed by Herman O. West, Jean G. Allen and the chairman, Henry W. Pfeiffer.

The Executive Committee of the association, which was founded in 1930, will meet Monday, the 21st, to plan for the annual election meeting. In addition to Mr. Fuller, the officers are Eugene Jordan and Henry Pfeiffer, vice-presidents; Herman West, treasurer, and Jean Allen, secretary.

History

and Present Expectations Topic of Club Meeting Next Tuesday

What we can expect if history repeats itself will be shown by Dr. Morris Wolf, head of the department of History and Social Science, when he speaks on "Some Deadly Parallels" before the Women's Community Club of Narberth, Tuesday, at 2 o'clock, in the Community Building.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. J. S. Erickson and Mrs. L. H. Trotter.

Fifteen club members are leaving at ten this morning for a trip to the winter show at the Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia, conducted by Mrs. G. B. Supplee, Art chairman. They will meet at the south side of Narberth Station, and will return to Mrs. Supplee's home for coffee and sandwiches following the trip. Drivers of cars are Mrs. Supplee, Mrs. Harry Helson and Mrs. J. S. Ketcham.

The club chorus will rehearse at 12:45 Tuesday noon in the Legion wing of the community building. Owing to the illness of Mrs. C. F. Kuebler, music chairman, Mrs. Ralph Giles has kindly consented to conduct, and Mrs. E. W. Heymann, president, urges that many come to give her support.

The New Membership Committee met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. A. Mizner, to plan the luncheon to new members to be held at Green Hill Farms, March 15. Tea was served.

The Narberth Club expects to reach its quota of $900 in the section of Narberth and part of Merion which it supervised in the Salvation Army Drive. The sum of $760 is in, with other sections yet to report. Almost $500 of the money was collected by Mrs. Henry F. Dever, drive chairman, and her committee, in a door to door canvass.

Annual Bridge Party Held at Club's New Quarters

Friday afternoon, February 4—Top score, Mrs. A. S. Hutton and Mrs. J. Ben Taylor; second place, Mrs. Allen Shubert and Mrs. Mark Morgan.

The annual bridge party was held at the new quarters, 102 Elmwood avenue, on Saturday evening. Winners were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shubert, Mrs. H. I. McConnell and Howard D. Simpson, Mrs. C. J. Goodyear and Miss Anna Foley; Mrs. Arthur Cooney and Mrs. Charles B. Stoult.

Mixed tournaments are being played Monday evenings in February. Top score, E. and W., Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hammer; top score, N. and S., was tied by Mrs. Frank McEnamney and Arthur Cooney with Mrs. J. H. Baker and Mrs. William Thompson.

Women's Division meets every Friday afternoon, at 1:30, at the new headquarters.

The Plastic Surgeon,

Dr. J. Howard Crum, who spoke at the Narberth Theater two years ago under sponsorship of Mrs. Suzanne Joret Gill, will give a complete plastic surgery operation at the Pennsylvania Beauty Congress and Trades Display at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. Gill, who is secretary of the Congress, recommends the show for its beauty contest Monday night; Wednesday's "Search for New Talent," in which youth will compete for national recognition; and the lectures all three afternoons, by world specialists on hair dyeing and hair styling. Spring coiffures will be shown.

Narberth Club Leader and Judge Holland Wed Tomorrow at Merion

The marriage of Mrs. Mary Gertrude Green, of Penn Valley, Narberth, and the Honorable J. Burnett Holland, of Norristown, will be quietly solemnized in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom, in the historic Merion Meeting House at 6 P. M. this Saturday. The wedding will be under by her son, Stanley Mahlon Green. Mrs. Green is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon H. Rickert, of Sellersville, and the widow of W. Russell Green, former solicitor of Montgomery County. She is First Vice-President of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women and a Past President of the Women's Community Club of Narberth.

Judge Holland will have as his best man, his brother, Winfield S. Holland, of Norristown. The ushers will be James B. Holland, 2d, and Winfield S. Holland, Jr., of Norristown. Judge Holland is the son of the late Judge and Mrs. James B. Holland, United States District Court.

A dinner will follow the ceremony at the General Wayne Inn. After March, Judge and Mrs. Holland will be at home at 1605 DeKalb street, Norristown.

The army of Main Line men and women who have volunteered to do their share toward raising $5,416,000 for the United Campaign this year are first going to the "theater."

These workers from Bala-Cynwyd, the Main Line and outlying towns, who pay their own expenses and make donations as well, will gather at the Lower Merion Junior High School, Ardmore, on February 14, at 8 P. M., to see the Upton School of Stage Training give dramatic presentations of the work and needs of the 141 agencies which derive funds from the campaign.

Rodney K. Merrick, of Bryn Mawr, has been named chairman of the Main Line Division of the campaign, which starts March 1.

No Elephants

has Arthur P. Hahnel—but nearly every other type of bird or animal. He is an amateur taxidermist, better than most professionals, and his collection, augmented by contributions from the big zoos of the East, will shortly go in a museum which he plans to build in his home town, Royersford.

Mr. Hahnel will speak at the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club meeting next Wednesday evening, in the Narberth Community Building.

D. A. R. Tea is 21st

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of N. S. D. A. R., will give their Washington's Birthday Tea on Monday, February 21, at 2:30 P. M., in the American Legion Room of the Community Building, Narberth.

Colonel J. C. Nichols will be the speaker. There will also be a short musical program.

Members of the Ways and Means Committee of the Chapter will be the hostesses.

Will Hear Talk on China

The ladies of the Baptist Church of the Evangel will hold a guest tea at 2 o'clock Monday, at the home of Mrs. Herbert Clevenger, 107 Woodside avenue.

Dr. Cora Lenox, of China, will speak on current conditions in that country. Mrs. Ralph Giles will sing. The devotions will be given by Mrs. Archie Adams, formerly of China, whose husband is now professor of missions in Temple University.

Girl Scouts Plan For Active Month

Valentine and Washington's Birthday Parties on Their Schedule

Valentine and Washington Birthday parties are numerous this month among the 29 troops of the Main Line District 8, Philadelphia Girl Scouts, climaxed by the skating party to be held at the new Ardmore rink, February 19, for the entire district.

Miss Marguerite Twoby, regional director of Girl Scouts, spoke to representatives of district committees and of the Philadelphia Council on "Public Relations," at the headquarters of District 7, East Montgomery County, Jenkintown, Wednesday afternoon. Members of the District 7 committee were hostesses at tea. Mrs. Carl A. Thaysen, of Narberth, of the Public Relations Division of the Philadelphia Council, attended, as did Mrs. F. N. Floyd, chairman of Public Relations of Main Line District 8.

Girl Scouts of Cynwyd Troop 94 will serve the supper for the Main Line Leaders' Association, Tuesday evening, at the Ardmore Presbyterian Church. The Troop Committee, Mrs. L. W. Cline, chairman, will prepare the supper. Miss Catherine Armstrong will instruct the leaders in the making of shepherds' pipes.

New Chief

at the Narberth Fire Company, elected at a special meeting

Monday night, is John A. Miller, who lives two doors from the fire house, at 111 Forest. Former deputy fire chief, he has served the company for years; was two-time president of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club; is now head of the Montgomery County Sportsmen's Federation. He was nominated by Dr. Albert C. Barnes, without opposition. Count T. B. DuMarais presided.

George Carr, 415 N. Narberth avenue, son of Councilman Henry P. Carr, and a director of the company, was elected secretary. He and the new chief fill the vacancies caused by the death, December 26, of Charles V. Noel.

Republican Women to Hear Discussion

The luncheon meeting of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women on Tuesday, February 15, at Whitehall Hotel, Haverford, promises to be an outstanding treat. "Present Trends in Public Education" will be discussed from three distinctly separate standpoints. Dr. Marian Parris Smith, professor of economics, Bryn Mawr College, and a member of the Pennsylvania State Board of Education will present the views of the Commonwealth.

Dr. S. E. Downs, superintendent of the schools of Lower Merion, will be representative of the local schoolman, and E. E. Burlingame, president of the Board of School Directors of Lower Merion Township, will approach the subject as a citizen and a school administrator.

of his two-year-old son from a bedroom adjacent to a blazing room on the second floor of the residence of William Hoss, 114 Rockland avenue, Merion, broke up a bridge game Sunday night.

Mr. Hoss, told of the fire by his daughter, Elaine, 11, rushed upstairs and carried the boy, Wayne, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Stieber, 116 Rockland avenue, and notified Narberth firemen.

The latter confined the blaze to the room and closet in which it originated and held the damage to about $225, according to the estimate of Fire Chief John A. Miller.

Playing bridge with Mr. Hoss, who is assistant agency manager for a life insurance company, were Elwell Whalen, Bala, and Christian Nielsen and George Niedenthal, both of Philadelphia.

Last Friday at noon the Narberth volunteers were called to extinguish a blaze in the basement under the barber shop of Nicholas Finoia, at 100 North Narberth avenue. Smoke was too intense for close fighting with chemicals, and so hoses poured in water by the bucketful—and afterwards the water had to be hauled out—by the bucketful.

Junior Women's Club

will hold a different Birthday Ball tomorrow night. Their Lincoln's Birthday dance will be held at the Bala Golf Club. From nine 'til two Burt Kinzel's orchestra will keep them on their toes. The Misses Muriel Wales and Myrtle Schlipf are the hostesses for the evening. Those who attend these dances can tell you of the grand times they have, but why not come and see for yourselves? The new dance chairman is the "dance-minded" Margie Hoffman, of professional fame.

The bridge tournament, which was postponed because of inclement weather will get under way Monday in the clubroom at 1:30 P. M. Entries will be taken up until that time, so there is still time to enter. Call Mrs. F. Munroe Purse or Miss Margaret Kent for more details. To be held every other Monday afternoon for six times, the fun of playing has the added incentive of very grand prizes. Progressive Contract will be played. Strangers are welcome.

The Child Study group met on Monday night at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Wycoff, Merion avenue. Mrs. McCartney spoke on "Discipline." This group is open to all Junior Club

Wedding

The first page of this paper announces the wedding of Montgomery County's most eligible bachelor and one of the most popular women on the Main Line. The news report of tomorrow's wedding at Merion Meeting could remark that the Friends' Committee of Oversight includes the wife of a noted cartoonist; a renowned jurist, who will read the certificate, equivalent to the role played by clergymen of other denominations; a celebrated violinist.

Mention could be made that before there was a county, there was a Merion Meeting, at Meeting House lane, . . . where worshipped William Penn, the Founder, and many of the fine men and women who established Pennsylvania's pattern of brotherly love and Christian rectitude. And soon after the Meeting House, came the General Wayne Inn, where General Washington put up on his way to Valley Forge that historic winter. . . It is here, appropriately, that the wedding dinner will take place.

There is much that could be said. . . But the service is planned with the simplicity, the modesty, that is characteristic of the Friends. "Quietly solemnized"—so reads the news item, and so goes the occasion, one of the happiest in the history of Montgomery County.

Sales Tax

makes Philadelphia fun and Main Line business park up

As Philadelphia business men this week fumed under a sales tax added to other onerous city levies, Main Line mercantile concerns, individually and collectively, prepared to welcome many patrons who hitherto have overlooked the excellent wares and service offered just around the corner.

In Narberth the Narberth Business Council, under the leadership of Ralph S. Dunne, is ready to launch a program to acquaint old and new customers with the advantages of shopping in the borough. Over one hundred concerns are already represented in the organization.

Ardmore's Retail Merchants Association, which, under the presidency of Roland W. Hill, has staged several publicity campaigns, parades and sales events recently, stood ready to throw the weight of its more than 100 members toward securing lower transportation fares for shoppers.

Recently four insurance firms were invited to locate on the Main Line, which is singularly blessed by low local and county tax rates. Other firms, including several manufacturers, it is understood, have made inquiries concerning sites in Lower Merion.

The Garden

Catalogs are arriving daily from seed dealers, each of whom emphasizes his own specialties with attractive displays. Some of these will find a permanent place, but the wise gardener usually plants only a small amount of an entirely new strain. Many varieties when grown in demonstrations have proved to be adapted to Pennsylvania conditions. Special adaptations, however, can be learned from Charles K. Hallowell, Philadelphia Agricultural Extension Representative, 407 Custom House.

Pruning of fruit trees will be demonstrated by John U. Ruef, Extension Pomologist of the Pennsylvania State College, today, 10 A. M., at the orchard of Rodman E. Griscom, Monks road, Gladwyne. Ruef will emphasize removing only the wood which will insure high quality production. All who have fruit trees will secure some valuable pointers by watching Ruef prune one or more of the Griscom trees.

The planting and propagating of shrubs will be discussed by R. P. Meahl, Instructor in Nursery Industry, at the Pennsylvania State College, and Harry Wood, Superintendent of Scott Arboretum, at the fourth talk for garden folk next Tuesday, 8 P. M., at Room 631, 1600 Arch street. Mr. Meahl with color slides will show how new shrubs are started. He will emphasize the type of soil mixture in which young plants should be placed when new plants are desired. Harry Wood will give a list of shrubs that have been successfully propagated at the Arboretum.

Along the Line

Wayne's Federal Housing
Room Rental is set at $6.86. . . .

Leroy W. Loxley, assistant project manager of the Highland Homes clearance project in Wayne, announced this week selection of tenants for the new building erected on Highland avenue would get under way almost at once.

The selection will be made by the Management Branch of the Federal Housing Authority, assisted by a local citizens' group known as the Wayne Housing Advisory Committee. Cooperation also will be furnished by officials of the Neighborhood League.

An average room rental of $6.86 has been set by federal officials, Mr. Loxley explained. Under these figures, the six two-room apartments will rent for $17 monthly; the twenty-four three-room apartments for $22; the sixteen four-room apartments for $26, and the four five-room apartments for $30 monthly. Of the total average room rental, $2.31 covers utility charges.

U. S. Housing Administrator Nathan Straus announced the schedule.

To date, there are approximately 150 applicants for apartments on the site. Many are former occupants of the homes which were razed to make way for the project and more than half are negroes who constituted the majority of the occupants of the old Fritz Court.

Included among the general requirements of tenant selection will be that the applicant now is living in a sub-standard home, and that the rent will not be more than one-fifth of his total monthly income.

Actual selection will be in charge of B. H. Ritter, representing the management branch of the Federal Housing Authority.

Negotiations pertaining to sewage disposal on the project have been occupying considerable time, it was revealed. The $2.31 utility charge includes gas, electricity, water, heat and sewage, and $2 of this charge is for sewage alone. It was explained the Wayne Sewerage Company, which is a private concern charging local householders from $25 to $30 annually for its services, refused to lower its rates for Highland Homes residents.

A series of eight lectures on applied psychology to be given for the alumni of the college has been arranged by Drexel Institute of Technology, according to an announcement by Dr. Parke R. Kolbe, president of the college. The lectures will be given by Dr. C. D. Leatherman, of the Drexel Psychology Department, at 8 P. M., on Thursday evenings, February 10 to March 21 inclusive, in the Drexel Art Gallery.

Players

"Love is not potatoes"—but the play woven about this Russian proverb proved to be very sustaining theater fare to an enthusiastic audience which demanded three curtain calls at the conclusion of "Three Corners Moon" last Saturday night. And the individual players won ovations throughout the romantic comedy for their spirited interpretations of their roles.

Faith Farmer, as the impractical, featherbrained but wholly charming Mrs. Rimplegar, was outstanding in her characterization. Others whose work deserves special credit: Betty Lynch in her portrayal of the high-spirited fun-loving daughter who developed character with adversity; George McAllister, as the visionary novelist (who always showed up for his meals even though he did nothing to earn them); and William Farmer, as the impulsive youngest son, whose swoon was very effective.

Smaller parts were well played by William Hand, Philip Reger, Margaret Hanssen and Nancy Simpson. Francis Mitchell was sympathetic in the role of the only practical member of the cast.

The timing was good, the dramatic action highlighted with clever dialogue. Orchids to Gertrude Tonkonog for her sprightly, enjoyable play, to Marjorie Flynn for able direction and to the players for their excellent group co-ordination.

Garden Club Meeting Monday

The Penn Valley Garden Club will meet Monday morning at 10.30 in the parish house of All Saints' Church, Wynnewood. Discussion on fertilizer. Open forum.

The Executive Board met at the home of Mrs. Earl G. Wagner, on Righter's Mill road, Penn Valley, yesterday.

Main Line Reports $18,240 Collected for Salvation Army

New gifts in excess of $23,000 to the 1938 Salvation Army Campaign were announced Monday at a meeting of 300 workers at the Bellevue-Stratford, bringing the total to date to $94,303 or nearly one-half of the $200,000 goal.

The Main Line report of $18,240 was given by Mrs. D. N. Patterson, of Cynwyd.

Monday's meeting was dedicated to the press in recognition of the support which newspaper men have accorded the campaign. Prominent columnists and editors were at the head table and brief talks were made by James Keeney—better known as Cecil Pennyfeather—E. H. Grauvreau, Leigh Mitchell Hodges and Don Rose. Merritt C. Huse, general campaign chairman, presided.

The next report meeting of the campaign will be on Monday.

Junior High Play Runs Extra Night by Demand

"Anne of Green Gables," given Wednesday night by the Lower Merion Junior High School, proved so successful that it was held over for a second performance last night when another capacity audience acclaimed the students' play.

A. B. Herr directed the production which was given by permission of the Samuel French Publishing Company.

Bullet Ends Robbery Career

The youth who robbed Davis' Store in Narberth last summer is dead, shot Sunday night when he tried to break away from patrolman J. Charles Hamel, at 52d and Market streets.

He was Edward L. Gajtkowski, 17, paroled on Friday by Delaware County authorities.

Put on probation by Judge Harold G. Knight for the Narberth robbery, Gajtkowski was convicted in October of robbing a Llanerch drug store.

Shareholders

of the Narberth Building and Loan Association received notices this week of the voluntary liquidation which was decided upon in public meeting last month. To quote from the legal advertisement appearing in this issue: "All stockholders must present their claims within three months from January 31, 1938, or be bound by the amount shown by the books of the association to be due them."

Late Monday night someone crawled under the south side platform and tore out electric wires, putting five platform lights out. Stationmaster A. E. Burgress has suspicions. . . . A year ago he caught a prankster doing a similar trick, and Squire Fritsch collected $11.

Narberth is well represented at Norristown this week. The widow of the former County Solicitor weds a Norristown judge, whose clerk is Richard Fleet, a Narberth Comedian. Assistant District Attorney John E. Flynn, one of the Narberth Players, prosecutes the case against Wendell F. Bowers. Defense counsel for the confessed slayer (by request of the County) is Elmer Menges, son-in-law of P. B. Knout, and a new director of the National Bank of Narberth.

One of the observers of the Rockland avenue fire Sunday night was told by a Lower Merion policeman to keep away: "nobody but officials allowed here—and who do you think you are?" The observer, Frank Schrepper, withdrew, incognito. As Burgess of Narberth he ranks as chief of the borough's police department, but after all, why argue?

No sooner did Russell Basler return to post office duty after breaking his spine, than George Morton had his tonsils out. When he returned this week, Clarence Long, Ben Yowell and Wally Goodwin were unable to work. Dick Blessing nearly won a vacation last Friday when the fire in Nick Finola's basement smoked him out.

Business Bits

Gordon Wunder, busy moving from Forest avenue to his new store on Montgomery pike, passed up this year his trip to Florida with Gene Davis. But his father, George Wunder, who lived in Florida, died last week. Gordon went down by train for the funeral, and returned Monday. Gene, who brought him home, looks brown and well rested.

Fred F. Sweeton, 227 Avon, joined the Narberth Men's Shop well-dressed group 7.30 P. M. Monday. The club line forms on the right.

W. Howard Haws' hardware store had nice results from last week's ad; so did Howard Cotter, Paul Shea, William Henderson, the Narberth Hand Laundry. . . .

Among the new supporters of your paper this week are Dan Tumolo, the new barber on the Narberth avenue hill; Raymond Watrous and R. R. Bringham and Co., Inc., who are in Our Town for the first time since 1822, when they were burying Ben Franklin's in-laws; the Electric Sewer Service; the Sisters Beauty Salon. . . . And did you notice the ads of John Albrecht, florist, and Ye Oddity Shoppe and Davis', for St. Valentine's Day? And what are you doing about these helpful suggestions?

P. S.—Fifty new subscribers two weeks ago. Fifty more this past week. No wonder the advertisers. . . .

A Mid-Winter Jamboree party will be held by the Montgomery County Terrier Club on Friday, February 25, at Abe Swartz's Tavern, Gladwyne. There will be dancing and games.

Obituary

A tribute to Mrs. Helen L. Hagar, written by her minister.

Mrs. Helen L. Hagar passed away at her daughter's, Mrs. Palen P. Rossman's, home, 430 Haverford avenue, on Saturday, February 5. The services were conducted at the home on Monday, February 7, by Dr. Archer E. Anderson, pastor of the Narberth Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Hagar had been ill with bronchial pneumonia; was ill when her husband, a veteran of the Civil War, died, January 18.

Mrs. Hagar was 85 years of age. She was a devout Christian, deeply interested in the work of the church and in all matters pertaining to the kingdom of God. It was her life purpose to seek to draw all men unto Him whom to know is life eternal. Mrs. Hagar had been a member of the Baptist Temple of Philadelphia for the past ten years. Due to advanced age it was impossible for her to attend the services at the Temple so, with her late husband, she attended the services of the Narberth Presbyterian Church. She enjoyed the friendship of those who shared her high ideals.

Mrs. Hagar retained her virile interest in all matters concerning her country. She was deeply interested in the work of the W. C. T. U., of which she was a member. She set a splendid example of citizenship by going to the polls with her husband at the last election to vote according to the dictates of her conscience.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagar were both residents of Winsted, Conn. She will be interred with him there.

300,000 MILES!

One morning more than thirty years ago, a young man drove a horse and buggy out of the stable. It was his first morning on a new job and he drove through the city streets slowly and carefully. He was considerate of the rights and safety of others—it was a part of his new job.

In the passing years, his horse and buggy was replaced by a motorcycle which, in turn, gave way to a motor car. The young man's territory became larger, the business grew and he became busier, but he always drove with the same care and consideration. He has driven night and day over storm-swept, ice-coated highways. He has driven for countless hours through the streets of an ever-growing city. In thirty-one years he has driven well over 300,000 miles—yet he's never been responsible for an accident.

Recently the once young man was honored for his splendid driving record. So were more than 450 of his fellow telephone employees who have operated Bell vehicles more than ten years without an accident. They're charter members of the recently-organized Bell Telephone Hundred Thousand Mile Club. They have done and will continue to do their part to make the highways safe. I wish to express my hearty thanks to the members and active members of the Narberth Fire Company, who attended the meeting held Monday evening, February 7, in Elm Hall, to elect a chief.

Being unopposed shows the appreciation and confidence they have in me as their leader. I will endeavor to serve the community with the help of the active members and maintain the high standards of efficiency and service as set by our former Chief Charles V. Noel.

J. A. MILLER.

The Narberth Fire Company Is Proud of This Letter...

Dear Mr. Miller:

Now that the smoke has cleared away (from the fire at 212 Elm terrace, January 20), it is the desire of my family and myself to voice our sincere thanks and appreciation to the Narberth Fire Company. They went much beyond the mere duty of putting out the fire at our home. They were careful, conscientious, and considerate in every way and proved entirely trustworthy in their action. There was not a bit of damage done by them, not even to the cups and saucers hanging on the hooks in the secretary despite its various moves.

Narberth can well be proud of their fire boys.

Just as a slight token of our appreciation, the attached check is to be placed in whatever fund you have for the company.

EDWIN WOLF.

Comedy Now at Narberth: "Mayerling" is Thursday

"Nothing Sacred," a comedy sensation of the year, brings Carole Lombard and Fredric March to the Narberth Theatre this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. It is in technicolor, directed by the producer of "A Star Is Born," from Ben Hecht's unimpaired screen play, and has for additional stars Charles Winninger and Walter Connolly.

Charles Winninger comes to New York just for the ride and aid. Carole, small town girl, in perpetrating a colossal hoax that turns New York inside out, and turns Fredric, her reporter, goofy.

There's a lavish night club sequence, and many a scene of flawless colorful beauty and thrilling dramatic effect.

Monday and Tuesday, "The Bride Wore Red" will prove entertaining. It stars Franchot Tone, Robert Young, and Joan Crawford. "Cinderella" up to date and dated every night.

Ann Sheridan and John Litel in "Alcatraz Island" will share with Narberth's 9 P. M. big event, the excitement and fun on Wednesday.

The Academy Award winner, best foreign film of 1937, is coming Thursday, for only one day. "Mayerling," still a Broadway hit after six months, brings Charles Boyer and Danielle Darrieux.

Rest of the week the big stage success, a comedy hit on the screen, is due, Kay Francis and Preston Foster in "First Lady."

Sonja Henie Comes to Egyptian Tonight in "One in a Million"

Sonja Henie, queen of the silvery skates, who makes her screen debut in "One in a Million," the spectacular musical smash hit of last year, is playing at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday, including Saturday morning performance for children at 10:30.

Tyrone Power, Loretta Young romance in their perfect picture together, "Second Honeymoon," which comes to the Egyptian Monday and Tuesday.

'Inside Nazi Germany,' Film by March of Time, at Egyptian

Determined to bring American tourists and American dollars to Germany this summer, Nazi leaders have launched an advertising campaign of unequalled proportions in the United States. What sights tourists will see in Berlin and in other resorts are carefully selected by Nazi Propaganda chief Paul Joseph Goebbels, who strives to present Germany as not a place of hunger and persecution. Behind the scenes, however, where tourists cannot probe, March of Time has gone to bring back important news for its latest release, "Inside Nazi Germany—1938," playing at the Egyptian Theater this Friday and Saturday.

"Dr. Syn" starring George Arliss is playing at the Egyptian next Wednesday and Thursday, including Thursday matinee, February 16-17.

Ben Bernie Opens Orchestral Duel

As if he hadn't trouble enough with his Winchell warfare, Ben Bernie offered to meet Raymond Scott and his quintet in a musical battle, each alternating in playing stanzas from the same number.

The "old maestro" and Scott, famed master of swing, both lead their musical organizations in "Love and Hises," now at the Suburban Theater. Walter Winchell and Simone Simon are co-starred with Bernie.

Because their numbers are well-distributed throughout the picture, Bernie demanded a showdown with Scott to silence disparaging comparisons by Winchell.

is two reasons why the French movie industry is complaining about our thefting their talent. Both its stars, Charles Boyer and Danielle Darrieux, were such hits in this Academy Award winning film, that Hollywood had to have them. Mlle. Darrieux, wonderfully supported by Boyer, is perfect beyond description. She affects the audience like the Garbo of 1926 or the Luise Rainer of 1937. The screen has never shown a more beautiful love story.—So go the critics' "raves."

"Mayerling" will appear at Narberth Thursday for one day only, for the evening performances and also at a special matinee at 2:30.

Cast Announced for 'Yeomen of the Guard'

Two favorites of local Gilbert and Sullivan devotees will reappear amid a galaxy of new stars in the Bala-Cynwyd Choral's forthcoming production "Yeomen of the Guard."

Andrew Canale, handsome leading man of past performances, will sing the role of "Colonel Fairfax," while Warren Holland, remembered for his hilarious portrayal of "Ko-Ko" and other comedy roles, appears as "Jack Point," the Jester.

The leading lady will be Ruth Von Hagen, supported by Edna Moore Greulich and Ruth Brall. Other important parts will be taken by Stanley Zeman, Harry Ruedy, Charles Connor and Wilson Donovan.

Final auditions were held Monday evening at the Cynwyd School. The evening was concluded with refreshments served in the cafeteria with Mrs. Thomas M. O'Neill as hostess.

The chorus is still open to new members, but will not be for much longer. The next meeting will be at the Cynwyd School, Levering Mill road and Bryn Mawr avenue, Monday, at 8:15.

Notes from Nearby

The Wayne Suburban last week told of adult education. . .

"School Night" went over the top at the registration mass-meeting last Monday night, when 260 citizens of these and surrounding parts signed on the dotted line for the eleven courses offered, thus assuring the financial success of "School Night." But the financial element, while a very necessary part, is only a small detail of the whole story. More important is the fact that all of these people realized that in the inauguration of school night a new and rapidly growing force for the public welfare had come into being—a force for community enlightenment and better living which has spread with amazing rapidity and promises to become a movement of national scope.

Here are some facts: Out of town ship enrollment—15 per cent of the total enrollment. The present enrollments are as follows:

Horticulture and Gardening, 38; Nearby Colonial History, 43; Play Way to Health, men, 3; women, 29; Contract Bridge Bidding, 68; Clothing and Personality, 13; Pottery, 38; Public Speaking, 45.

The limit of the latter class was set at 25. Its capacity was quickly reached. A second section, which will meet on Tuesday nights, has been formed. The "School Night" Committee has been exceedingly fortunate in being able to secure as instructor for the Tuesday night section Edward Douglas Snyder, Ph.D., Professor of English at Haverford College. Only five more enrollments will be accepted in this class.

Great Personalities, 18; the Changing Scene, 40; the Lure of Rod and Line, 9; the Land of Youth, 27.

In the meeting which preceded the registration, T. Bayard Beatty, principal of Radnor High School, gave an interesting recital of his visit to the Maple, N. J., Adult School and pointed out the great interest with which Maplewood is following the experiment in Wayne.

An intensely interesting panorama of the entire field of adult education, not only in America but in England and Denmark, was given by Dr. Theodore L. Reller, Professor of Adult Education at the University of Pennsylvania. A writer and lecturer of note, Dr. Reller has been studying the movement abroad. He spoke of Denmark as being the most enlightened of democratic nations and pointed out that the adult education movement there was at its highest peak. Not far behind is England, where the laboring classes have embraced the project. Schools and factories have many thousands of grown-ups entered in these popular recreational courses.

The offer of free transportation to wives of husbands traveling on United Air Lines was extended Monday to Philadelphia, when the company announced that courtesy trips could be arranged on flights from Philadelphia to Cleveland, and from Philadelphia to Chicago. The courtesy flights for wives will be in force until March 1.

The premiere of "County Fair," Mary Binney Montgomery's new ballet, with the Civic Symphony at Irvine Auditorium later this month will be entirely feminine in its creation. The music is being composed by Evelyn Berkman; the libretto written by Mary Borland, the designing by Barbara Crawford and the choreography by Miss Montgomery.

Republican Executives Elect Peters As Vice-Chairman

Committee Also Endorses Congressman Ditter for Renomination in Primary

WRIGHT HEADS GROUP

Fred C. Peters, president of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners, has been elected vice chairman of the new Republican executive committee of this county.

The committee, meeting last Friday took no action on selecting a chairman, but tentatively agreed to retain Franklin L. Wright, chairman of the Republican County Committee, as presiding officer of the group.

A second vice chairman will be selected by the committee at a future date. It is expected that a woman will be chosen for this post.

Members of the executive committee endorsed Congressman J. William Ditter, of Ardmore, for renomination in the Spring primary. After a discussion, it was decided no action would be taken on candidate for the gubernatorial nomination.

The executive committee is comprised of Montgomery county office holders and representatives for each of the five legislative districts.

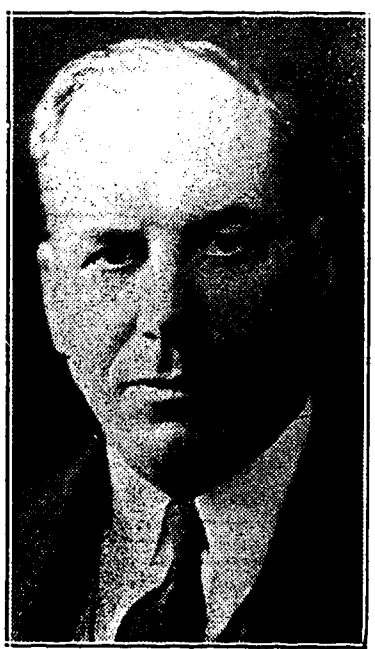

The first Legislative District is represented by Peter C. Hess, Lower Merion Republican leader and township treasurer; Mrs. John Y. Harte, Jr., president of the Lower Merion Narberth Council of Republican Women; William G. Hower, Recorder-Deeds, and District Attorney Eric J. R. Smilie, in addition to M. Peters.

Charles Fanslow has been elected to the board of managers to replace Fred C. Peters, who resigned because of his duties as president of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners.

Re-elected to the board are George B. Matthews, Joseph P. Richmond, James McLaughlin and William Carey.

The company has re-elected the following officers: Mr. Kamerde, president; Mr. Matthews, first vice-president; Ralph E. Springer, second vice-president; Dr. Clifford Arnold, third vice-president; William Costello, secretary, and Joseph M. Baltz, treasurer.

James W. Mullen was unanimously re-elected chief engineer, and Stewart Hoyle, engineer.

Narberth Library

The following books of fiction have recently been added to the Narberth Community Library:

"Enchanted Oasis," by Faith Baldwin. Light novel about an English girl in Palm Springs.

"Manhattan Nights," by Faith Baldwin. Novel of New York life.

"This Way to the Stars," by Elizabeth Carfrae. Light romance about a boy and a poor minister's daughter.

"The Merry, Merry Maidens," by H. G. Carlisle. A group of high school girls meet again years after graduation.

"Death on the Nile," by Agatha Christie. Hercule Poirot finds a murder mystery waiting for him on his vacation.

"Turning Wheels," by Stuart Cloete. A realistic story of the Boers in Africa. Many like it better than "They Seek a Country," by F. B. Young, which had the same background of place.

"Ranger Two-Rifles," by Dan Coolidge. Texas rangers in border warfare. For "western" fans.

"The Pioneers," by Courtney Riley Cooper. First an authority on the circus, and then on crime, the author has now tried his hand at historical fiction. "The Pioneers" is the story of the settling of Oregon. Kit Carson moves in the background.

"The Ranger Way," by Eugene Cunningham. Another western.

"Murder on Margin," by R. G. Dean. Pat Thompson and Susan Barton are involved in tracing the murderer of a crooked stockbroker.

"The Judas Window," by Carter Dickson. A Sir Henry Merrivale story. There's a good trial scene.

"I'm Getting Married," by Joan Follies. Translated from the Hungarian. The author won the "All Nations" prize for his "Street of the Fishing Cat." This novel is in lighter vein.

"The Simple Way of Poison," by Leslie Ford. Colonel Primrose and Sergeant Buck. It takes place in an old mansion in Georgetown.

"The Dangerous Years," by Gilbert Frankau. A trilogy by the author of "Three Englishmen." It is a family story beginning with the time of the "Titanic" and coming up to the present.

TIME OUT

Maroon Starts Too Late to Escape Radnor's "Black Hole"

Tuesday was a more or less disastrous day for the Lower Merion basketball teams. In the afternoon the Junior High School dropped their first reverse in the suburban district to Upper Darby on the latter's floor, 25 to 21. At the same time the Senior High School girls' team was losing to Upper Darby by a close score.

Came the night and the "Black Hole" of Radnor. This hole, of course, is not to be confused with that historic pit of Calcutta, where so many humans suffocated and died in misery so far from home. Radnor's Black Hole is situated in Wayne down in the dungeon of the high school and is sometimes facetiously referred to by sports writers as the "Blood Pit." Came the night then, and up to Radnor went the Senior High five coached by Bill Anderson. The Pit was crowded with human freight, packed like fish eggs in a caviar can. Radnor's team formed a phalanx around the home basket and refused to allow the Lower Merion basketweavers to approach the home territory under any conditions and at the end of the first half they led in scoring 20 to 6—quite a difference. Coach Bill rallied his boys between the halves and sent them back with a more determined state of mind. The plan was to outscore Radnor, wipe out the enemy players entirely and bring back the pit to Lower Merion, baskets, ceiling, floor, bleachers and all as a museum piece for future Lower Merion sons to gaze upon as a reminder of the great battle of February 8, 1938. This probably would have been done, except the rules for battle limited the time of hostilities. Sixteen minutes were allowed during which time the Maroon ran up 17 points to Radnor's 10. The final tabulation was 30 to 23 for the Red Raiders. Such luck!

Coach Andy's only hope now is that Radnor may take Norristown in another "Bloody Pit" battle and that the Bulldogs can also take the Blue Eagles in the return game at Villanova next Tuesday night.

Then there will be a chance to meet the two of them in playoff games on neutral ground.

The Junior High School meets Pottstown Junior High next Monday night on the former's floor, instead of the regular scheduled time of Tuesday night. This was to avoid the conflict with the Norristown-Lower Merion game at Villanova Tuesday evening.

The Senior High five meets Cheltenham tonight at Ardmore. Upper Darby was defeated again Tuesday night by Lansdowne. The reverse given to the Royals by Lower Merion last week must have robbed them of their morale. Low Goats still has the best team in his league and should eventually emerge the winner.

The Junior High five defeated Stewart Juniors of Norristown last Friday by a 26 to 22 score on the Norristown School's floor. Stewart was the only team to defeat the Leopards last year and with a veteran squad was expected to repeat. Victories over Pottstown and Stewart must have taken something out of the Orange and Black for they lost to Upper Darby, a team which they had previously defeated by ten points.

Senior Class at L. M. High Will Present Mystery Play

"Guilty" or "not guilty" will ring through the courtroom when the famous murder trial mystery "The Night of January 16" by the senior class of the Lower Merion High School Thursday and Saturday nights next week.

This year's annual production embraces a plot with a double ending, to be decided by the jurors, who will be selected from the attending audiences of both nights.

District Attorney Cliff Roberts will attempt to convict the beautiful secretary, Doris Meshey, of murdering her boss, while Judge Archie Tift presides over the trial.

The proceeds of the play will go to the class treasury and result in an ultimate price reduction of the annual Washington trip to be taken by the seniors the latter part of March. Tickets are available for either night from all senior class members for fifty cents.
